Look a man squarely in the face and he can't tell you a lie without showing it.

J. Taylor Ellyson is now figuring on the lieutenant governorship. "My name is Jimmie, I'll take what you gimme."

A South Carolina editor was struck by lightning while attending church. This should be a warning to all editors who are prone to stray from the beaten paths.

Some men live a long time before they find out what very little importance is attached to what they say or do, and some of them die believing they are the greatest men that ever lived.

Emperor William of Germany has developed a sudden fondness for the Turks, but it will be discovered when the test comes that he thinks a great deal more of himself than he does of the Turks or anybody else.

Call not that man your friend who allows your enemies to poison his mind against you, and with a sickly hypocritical smile comes to sympathize with you in having such a weak brother in your employment.

Now that Eugene V. Debs has abandoned his socialistic scheme of colonization, it is in order for Coxy to come forward with his army of disgruntled tramps and take the government from the hands of its despoilers.

The San Francisco chamber of commerce has presented a petition to Congress urging the immediate annexation of Hawaii to the United States. San Francisco generally knows what she wants and does not hesitate to make her wants known.

The Christian Endeavorers in their trip to San Francisco met with many disasters. Collisions occurred at various points along the route and many were seriously hurt. They are a noble body of Christian workers and deserve the sympathy of all the country.

The United States warship at the Victorian jubilee made a very fine showing; but the warships of the good queen at the Spitehead review showed very conclusively that England was the mistress of the seas, and is still the greatest European power if the occasion demands it.

The Holt will case has been revived in Washington and will probably be heard and disposed of some time next fall. It is very much mixed. A clever forgery has been accomplished somewhere or the heirs of the late judge advocate have been very much imposed upon. It is hard to say which.

Samuel J. Randall, son of the great Pennsylvania Democrat protectionist, has been appointed coin of the mint at Philadelphia, and thus virtue is its own reward. His father was a political anomaly. He always stood up for protection, but was otherwise one of the staunchest Democrats in the United States.

To be a power in the land, let right and truth be on your side. The pyrotechnic display of brilliancy may dazzle the world and cause people to exclaim how grand, how beautiful, but this does not compare with the glorious sun of honesty, integrity and right, which steadily rises until it illumines all mankind and causes them to bow in reverence and awe.

The city officers ought not to forget that a thorough cleaning up is necessary

Nerves

Are the Messengers of Sense—the Telegraph System of the human body.
Nerves extend from the brain to every part of the body and reach every organ.
Nerves are like fire—good servants but hard masters.
Nerves are fed by the blood and are therefore like it in character.
Nerves will be weak and exhausted if the blood is thin, pale and impure.
Nerves will surely be strong and steady if the blood is rich, red and vigorous.
Nerves find a true friend in Hood's Sarsaparilla because it makes rich, red blood.
Nerves do their work naturally and well—the brain is unclouded, there are no neuralgic pains, appetite and digestion are good, when you take in the next three or four weeks, and should proceed about the work without delay. Roanoke is one of the healthiest cities in the United States, and few efforts in the way of cleaning up and sanitation would accomplish wonderful results before the 11th of August next.

The proposition to nominate a Populist for lieutenant governor does not seem to be meeting with much favor among the Democrats. They seem to imagine that they have the power and need not make any concessions to the People's party, but they will discover too late what they ought to have done, and learn with regret of the mistake they have made in this matter.

The improvements now being made on Franklin road will be a great change for the better when completed. The gutters will be raised and the macadam repaired, both of which will be necessary and will make a substantial improvement. The board walks also should be touched up, as the improvements needed there are very necessary and might prevent serious law suits.

The nomination of John Russell Young, of Pennsylvania, as librarian of Congress is one that seems to give general satisfaction. Mr. A. R. Spofford, the late incumbent, will be his chief assistant. Mr. Spofford, according to developments of the office, was a splendid librarian, but a very poor financier and the change promises to be a fine arrangement all around.

The report that General Weyler is to be recalled from Cuba and General Canopus reinstated hardly deserves to be credited. General Campos made very poor progress toward reducing the insurgent army to subjection while he was in command on the island, and his reinstatement would no doubt be received with delight by the rebels.

Pat Foy's ornamental work on the courthouse green is a very creditable affair, both to him and the city. It looks as well as Mr. Smith's decorations at the Ponce de Leon Hotel, and all will show up well for the city in August. It is hoped other citizens and other hotels will profit by their example.

With the passing of William F. Hoey, known throughout the Union as "Old Hoss" Hoey, the theatrical profession loses one of its most valued members and the public loses one of its greatest entertainers. As "Old Hoss" the tramp, in "A Parlor Match," Hoey has given to the world a new conception of the tramp and has shown that peculiar specimen of the genus homo to a more ridiculous and amusing advantage than any other man on the stage.

The Democratic State convention in Ohio was the largest and most enthusiastic gathering of that political organization since the close of the late civil war. They were strong in their advocacy of silver, and Cleveland and Brice were not in it. "Six transit gloria mundi," so far as the old mugwump leaders of Democracy are concerned.

Senator Turpie, of Indiana, insists on a tax on inheritances of 2 per cent. for all legacies over $5,000. He said there were two ways of meeting a deficiency in the taxes, one by decreasing expenses, the other by increasing taxes, and he declared his belief that the pending tariff bill would not bring the requisite revenue of $450,000,000. The Senator knows what he is talking about and his doctrines indicate that Uncle Sam must stir his stumps or get left in his efforts to hold up the Treasury surplus.

Poor Greece has been nearly blotted out from the pages of nations. She declared war against the Turks and would have done great things if her soldiers had been as brave in front of the enemy as they were a long distance off. But for the intervention of the powers, the Turks would easily have captured Athens. They proved to the world that as soldiers they were far superior in discipline and courage to the Greeks, and that, but for the international policy of the great powers, they would have walked over the Grecian archipelago without let or hindrance. Before they begin another war the Greeks had better count the cost.

ELOQUENT LANGUAGE.

When it comes to saying exactly what he means and in language such as none but he can command, Senator John W. Daniel, Virginia's pride, cannot be excelled. In a recent speech on the Cuban question, he roundly scored the Republican party for its inactivity as follows: "What has become of that resolution? 'It has gone to the tomb of the Capitol, to the great political morgue on Capitol hill, where silent spectres flit around the hall once occupied by representatives. But, perhaps, I am treading on delicate ground. I can only regret the degeneration; and of the dead let me speak no ill. Yet I can only think of the whilom house of representatives as the poet laureate of England thought of the body of the dead—as 'the dark, deserted house where life and thought no longer dwell.'"

A NEW MAN NAMED.

To the Editor of The Times: In casting around for a sound, practical man suitable to represent this district in the legislature, a man whose record as a Democrat is unsullied; one who has the confidence of the masses; a practical business man; one with a clean moral character, who will draw to us the farming interests; I find such a man in W. G. Woods, of Bonacks, Roanoke county. Garrison Woods is a man of sound practical judgment, quick to grasp a question, entertaining, clear and pungent in debate, a farmer who tills his soil, harvests his crops, working side by side with his employees. Thus he knows the needs of the farming and laboring classes. Mr. Woods is a popular man with the masses, rich or poor, white or black; a friend to the needy, a courteous Christian gentleman; one who would faithfully perform any duty imposed upon him; a man of strict integrity, outspoken in his convictions; a man who would never "bend the supple hinges of the knee that thrift may come of fawning."

Democrats should look well about them this time and select men who can win. Nominating is not electing, as we Democrats found out to our sorrow two years ago. Place before us good clean, sober, conscientious, fearless men, men in whom all classes can take an interest. I believe we have such a man in Garrison Woods. He is popular with Republicans as well as Democrats, and recognizing the fact that a straight Republican ticket cannot succeed in this district, Mr. Woods will have the support of a goodly number of Republicans. The man whom the citizens of Roanoke city may select could not have a stronger man on the ticket with him. As a canvasser he is the peer of any man. He is a hard worker and a man loved and respected by all who know him and his canvass will be a thorough, close and telling one. Democrats of Roanoke should see that both candidates on the ticket are strong men and in November we will win. Let one of the candidates be Garrison Woods, of Bonacks. Mr. Woods stands squarely on the Chicago platform and is a staunch friend of Maj. John W. Daniel, and we can safely say that no man that isn't 'need offer for the Democratic nomination from Roanoke county. HAYSEED.

SHAWSVILLE ITEMS.

Mrs. T. L. Emery and Mrs. F. L. Kerns and son, of Richmond, arrived on June 29 and will spend the summer in Shawsville.

The earthquake shock of June 28 was felt here slightly.

The wheat harvest is now over in this section, and the farmers are busy cutting their grass.

William Gardner and sister, of McDonald's Mill, are visiting their brother in Shawsville.

The dry weather still continues, and unless we soon get rain the gardens will be worthless.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

The Luray College, located at Luray, in the valley of Virginia, has through its president, Rev. H. M. Wharton, D. D., made an announcement that will be very acceptable to young ladies who are struggling to prepare themselves for their life work. A number of free scholarships will be given the coming session, and the basis upon which these scholarships are given is as follows: The young lady must be a Christian of good standing in her church, of fair abilities, and depending upon herself for her support in the future. Preference will be given where one is an orphan, but if parents are living there will be no objection, provided they are absolutely unable to give their daughter the education that she requires. A letter addressed to the president will bring the desired information in detail. The further announcement is made that the daughters of ministers will be taken free of charge. Luray College has just closed its eighth session, and is becoming a well-known institution of learning. Any information with reference to it may be obtained by writing to the president at Baltimore, Md., or to Prof. M. M. Hargrove, at Luray, Va.

BETTER HOLD ZEKE.

Philadelphia and several other clubs may want "Zeke" Wrigley very badly, but if Mr. Earl Wagner lets him slip through his fingers he can expect a storm of indignation from the local fans that will raise the big brand stand from its fastenings.—Washington Post.

THE TRAMP.

From the Boston Advertiser: One reason why the American army of tramps is so large is that the American communities themselves have made it so easy for tramps to live in idleness. In almost every section of the country, except a few parts of the West and the South, the average tramp has little difficulty in securing enough to eat. Not until American communities generally treat tramps as the criminals they are, and make the punishment for vagrancy imprisonment at hard labor, will there be much likelihood that the American army of tramps will grow any smaller than it now is.

Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents and $1 per bottle at Massie's Pharmacy.
